The image shows the interior of a truck camper, viewed from the front towards the back. On the left, there is a dining table with a white countertop and a brown upholstered bench seat. The table is set with a white plate, a glass of water, and a green placemat. A vase with purple flowers sits on the table. On the right, there is a kitchen area with a white countertop, a stainless steel sink, a gas stove with a silver kettle, and a microwave. A bowl of fruit and a cutting board with a knife are on the counter. The back of the camper features a sleeping area with a bed and pillows. The interior is well-lit with recessed ceiling lights. Large windows on both sides offer a view of a forest with autumn foliage. The text "Welcome to truck camping; you've found the next great adventure." is overlaid in the center of the image.

Raising the bar with every build.

Best-in-class framing.

Aircraft quality welded aluminum framing with lumber core insert for superior strength and structural integrity. Adventurer frames and adds gussets around all windows, entry and baggage doors (901 SB, 910 DB models).

Rock solid tie-downs.

Adventurer believes that tie-downs are a critical construction area. That is why we use galvanized tie-down brackets bolted through our TCC laminated wing, through angle aluminum with large carriage bolts and body washers giving our owners the tight tie-down attachments.

Insulation and support.

Adventurer exclusively uses “closed cell” block foam insulation which provides more R-Value per inch than standard foam board. Pair that with custom aluminum extrusions, each side wall is adhered, clamped and lag screwed together, creating a solid, fully supported camper.
