

THE ALINER FAMILY

www.aliner.com

In the early 1970s, Ralph Tait had an idea. So he went into his garage in Bend, Oregon and began tinkering. Several weeks and a few blisters later, he emerged with a revolutionary design for the first A-frame pop-up camper.

It was sensible. It was different. And it was light enough to be towed with just about any vehicle. Friends wanted one. Family wanted one. Friends of family wanted one. As word of mouth spread, Ralph found himself making more campers out of his garage. That's when Ralph's sons had their own bright idea. Why not turn this hobby into a real business?

The family moved to Pennsylvania and began making Aliner campers. Two brothers would build one. The third brother would hitch it to the family station wagon and drive across the country until he sold it. When he returned, the brothers would have another Aliner waiting. After years of hard work and several hundred thousand miles on the poor station wagon, the family retired in 2007. Today we continue to build every Aliner with the same quality, craftsmanship and pride as Ralph and his sons did for over 30 years.

Thank you for considering Aliner – the lightest, most innovative, environmentally conscious, original A-frame pop-up camper. In this brochure you'll find six models ranging in size and options. And whether you drive an SUV or an old station wagon with 9 gazillion miles, you'll find an Aliner that's perfect for you and your camping needs.

Today the name Aliner stands for quality and craftsmanship. Each camper is still handmade in western Pennsylvania, just as they were 40 years ago in Ralph's garage. Ralph's innovative spirit lives on as well. We're continually coming up with improvements and new features.

If you're ever in the area, stop by for a plant tour at 2PM, every Tuesday. Just call ahead to confirm.

Sensibly Different. Like You.

Let's just come right out and say it: Not everyone gets it. There are many perfectly good people who take one look at an Aliner and go completely blank. Ever seen those people who get stumped on game shows? They look like that.

Now the truth is that their idea of camping is a lot different than ours. And probably yours, too. We just assume people camp as a way to kick back and experience their natural surroundings. Isn't the idea to reconnect with the outdoors, not recreate the inside of your living room? Call us crazy, but we'd rather watch a sunset on the lake than a sitcom on the flat screen.

Point is, our campers are made for people who want to enjoy the outdoors – simply and conveniently. Forget wet canvas and thirty minutes of set up. Forget needing a new heavy-duty truck for towing. Forget needing mirrors the size of elephant ears just to see behind you. Forget everything except this: The Aliner A-Frame lets you camp the way you want to camp.

VersaDine™ Five-Way Dinette

- 1. Lounge - Provides maximum floor space
- 2. Trunk - An easy way to keep gear contained while travelling
- 3. Bed - Slats insert for easy conversion to sleeping bunk
- 4. Family - Dining for up to four
- 5. Bistro - Intimate dining setup for one or two

Unlike other companies that paint their frame, we powder-coat ours to help prevent chips that lead to rust and corrosion.

Our fully laminated panel construction is strong and energy efficient. We use Azdel™ on the upper body of our campers to reduce weight and increase durability. You won't find that on our competitors.

We start with Perform Max 500® premium marine grade flooring and add an additional barrier between the road and the floor. Which means it won't warp, rot or swell, unlike plywood.

Aluminum Wheels

Standard on the Classic, Expedition and all off roads.

Heavy-duty roof springs for easy opening and closing.

Quality construction from top to bottom. Chemically bonded skylights (1) and a roof structure made with a single aluminum extrusion (2) increase strength and prevent leaks by eliminating screw holes. UV protected, silicon sealed, oversized bumpercaps (3) protect the camper's corners and can be easily replaced if damaged.

Instead of a solid axle, we use a rubber torsion axle which provides smooth independent suspension.

Features, from left: Breakaway switch for added safety, Master control panel provides convenient operation of appliances, Easy lube bearings means no trips to the shop, Heavy-duty stabilizer jacks provide solid footing

Welcome to life outside the box.

An Aliner is unlike any other pop-up camper. It's unlike any other camper, period. Yes, it's different. And it makes an impression. But people choose to become owners because an Aliner makes sense. (It also makes friends, but that's another matter).

Aliner is easy to tow with the vehicle you already own. It's a breeze to maintain, and ridiculously simple to store. It features quality construction and handcrafted details you can't get from a mega-company that knocks out ten thousand units in its sleep. And did we mention that every Aliner sets up in less time than it takes to microwave popcorn? 30 seconds, to be exact.

Choose Aliner and you'll have more time to do what you wanted to do in the first place: hike, ride, paddle, relax, laugh and enjoy the outdoors. Hey, makes sense to us.

Dormer

The Soft Dormer is available on Expedition, Classic, Ranger 15, and Ranger 12 in either the front and/or the rear of the camper. The Dormer replaces the skylight and when expanded increases the head room of the camper, allowing you to walk from end to end. The fabric is Sunbrella, which is mold resistant and fire retardant. The massive front panel unzips to provide a picture window. You can opt to roll the window down and have full fine-mesh screen, which offers amazing ventilation. You can always leave the dormer in the down position and have fully functioning Aliner, as head room over the sofa and over the dinette is actually increased 1" compared to the skylight.

Toilet

Forget finding your flip flops in the middle of the night. Forget running through rain storms to get to the bath house. The convenient electric flush toilet is available on Expedition or Ranger 15. The toilet is hidden under a cabinet, until you need it. Waste water is dumped via an easy-use cassette tank.

Bath

In the Expedition, you can have a fully functioning wet bath, with solid walls. An electric flush toilet and shower stall replace the door-side storage cabinets. The entire bath takes less than two minutes to set up and provides a world of convenience and comfort to the traveler.

Lift Assist

The Lift Assist is a dual function feature, that provides extra leverage when setting up the roof. This is useful for the vertically challenged or those with shoulder problems that prevent over head lifting. When your unit is set up, the pole latches in place to provide an extra layer of high wind protection. The lift arm can be kept in the stowed position when setting up the camper.

THE ORIGINAL A-FRAME IS STILL THE BEST A-FRAME.
